Centrally located on the Leidseplein in Amsterdam, you will find one of the most beautifully historical theatres of the Netherlands: Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam. The unique atmosphere and feel of the building, the excellent lunch and dining facilities and the extensive expertise and experience with events, is what makes the Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam the ideal location for a successful event. We hope to welcome you soon!

Why organise your event in the Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam?

The Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam is situated on one of Amsterdam's most famous squares and is easily accessible by either public transport or by car. The atmosphere and feel of the building, from elegant classical to stylish modern, makes this venue unique. The Stadsschouwburg (1894) is an official national monument and is known to be one of the most beautifully preserved historic theatres of the Netherlands.

In 2009, the hyper modern second theatre hall and a new foyer were added to the building. Extensive expertise and experience with events, whether large or small and personal and professional guidance during the preliminary stage on the day itself will make your event a success. Your event can be extended with a tour of the Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam, before or behind the scenes, and a visit to a theatre performance. Here art, culture and hospitality are united against a very unique decor.

GRAND HALL

THEATRE SHOW - (WALKING)DINNER - (PRODUCT) PRESENTATION - PARTY - AUCTION -
DEBATE - FASHION SHOW - TRAINING SESSION - CONGRESS - SYPOSIUM AND MORE

- Classic monumental hall, horseshoe-shaped with an impressive theatrical past
- Very professional audio and lighting installation
- Richly decorated with ornaments, statues and chandeliers
- Red plush seating

The most beautiful theatre hall of the Netherlands dates from 1894 and was built in the so-called Court Theatre style: horseshoe-shaped and richly decorated with ornaments, statues and chandeliers. On the first balcony, you can read the names of great Dutch playwrights. The theatre has 900 seats, 800 of which are in use. The horseshoe shape originally granted the audience not only a good view of the stage but also of each other – a 19th-century theatre visit was also about 'seeing and being seen'. In the centre of the first balcony is the Royal Box, which is still used by the royal family today when enjoying theatrical performances. In the early days, there was no seating in the arena itself. Instead, the audience leant against wooden partitions in the stalls. The first balcony housed the boxes, which were more or less out of sight. In these so-called 'rooms', well-to-do gentlemen could enjoy the spectacle on the stage (and other matters) with their mistress, away from prying eyes. All the way up the top, in what was known as the 'angles loges', the poorest of the poor could pay for standing room.

The Grand Hall offers multifunctional possibilities for events. This hall is suitable for group dining or a festive celebrations on the stage itself. Therefore the atmosphere can be enhanced through the use of advanced and professional audio and lighting effects.

ROYAL FOYER

SEATED LUNCH OR DINNER - PRESENTATION - RECEPTION - WALKING DINNER - MEETING - TRAINING SESSION - LECTURE AND MORE

- Elegant, classic atmosphere with lofty ceiling, stained glass windows
- Decorated with chandeliers and paintings
- View of the vibrant city life of the Leidseplein and over the historic Hirsch building
- Private bar available
- Classic wooden flooring
- Foyer offers daylight, though this can be screened off with heavy curtains

The Royal Foyer is elegantly, classical and impressive. This spacious foyer is situated at the first floor, the level of the first balcony opposite the Royal Box and is traditionally reserved for members of the royal family when attending performances. In former times, this foyer even had its own royal toilet. The life-sized paintings on each side of the foyer are portraits of two of our greatest actresses. Above the bar, we find Johanna Cornelia Ziesenis-Wattier (1762-1827), whom Napoleon believed to be "Europe's greatest tragedian". Opposite her is Theo Mann-Bouwmeester (1850-1939), after whom the most important Dutch acting award for actresses was named, the Theo d'Or.

Today this extraordinary room is the perfect background for inspiring meeting sessions, exclusive dinners or a romantic wedding ceremony. Thanks to the tall windows, overlooking the Leidse square, there is ample daylight, which can be screened off by the heavy curtains.

- Intimate, classic atmosphere with lofty ceiling and stained glass windows
- Decorated with chandeliers and paintings
- Views of the Leidseplein outdoor cafés
- Private bar available
- Carpeting
- Foyer offers daylight, though this can be screened off with heavy curtains

Opposite the entrance to the Grand Hall, you will find the Square Foyer. This was originally the so-called smoking foyer for male visitors. On the passage in front of the foyer, there was a rack with numbered pigeon-holes, on which the gentlemen could leave their unsmoked cigar until after the performance. Characteristics of this foyer include the blue carpeting, blue curtains and the beautiful Italian murals of the characters of the Commedia dell'Arte dating from 1938.

The Square Foyer is located in a corner of the building, giving you perfect view of the Leidseplein and its outdoor cafés. Despite the hustle and bustle outside, this foyer is fully soundproof. Therefore it creates a unique atmosphere for challenging conferences or a classical decor for private and business receptions or buffets.

- Legendary terrace for private use
- Unique view of the Leidseplein
- Private bar available

At the front of the theatre just above the main entrance, you will find the Ajax foyer and the Ajax terrace. The terrace, overlooking the Leidseplein, has a memorable past since it was used by celebrities to address the crowd. Many iconic figures such as Nelson Mandela during his visit to the Netherlands in 1990, and the Ajax football stars who were honoured here following major victories, stood here.

Nowadays, the Ajax foyer and terrace are part of café-restaurant Stanislavski. It is one of the most famous and impressive spots in Amsterdam to plan dinners, receptions and parties. During the day the room can be privately used for lunches and in the evening it can be transformed into an event venue with a private bar. This is one of the most extraordinary and affordable rooms in Amsterdam.

- AUCTION - DEBATE - FASHION SHOW - TRAINING SESSION - CONGRESS -

- Hyper modern theatre
- Tiered seating
- Sliding walls
- 'Flat floor' without a stage
- Very professional audio and lighting installation

Following major renovation work, this second new hall of the Stadsschouwburg was opened in 2009. It is a hyper modern and business-like theatre hall for high-tech events. The room was custom designed for our in-house theatre company Toneelgroep Amsterdam, and is also a firm favourite with other (international) groups. The Rabo Hall is a joint project by the Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam, Toneelgroep Amsterdam and the Melkweg. The Rabo Hall and New Foyer were very cleverly designed in-between the theatre and the neighbouring Melkweg music venue, in 2009. The Rabo Hall has permanent seating for 500, but this can be extended to 800 guests when necessary. The standing capacity can be increased by removing the chairs from rows 1 to 3, creating extra arena space for concerts.

- Food for thought
- Innovative kitchen with lighter, healthier and raw dishes
- Enjoy breakfast, lunch, dinner or drinks

The Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam with its café-restaurant Stanislavski offers ‘food for thought’; theatre and dance of today and tomorrow. Our gastro-pub has a food philosophy with that in mind. Chef Elmer Kessler prepares dishes of lighter and healthier food which we believe is tastier and energizes. Nearly every detail of our dishes is prepared in our own kitchen. We work with pure, organic and healthy ingredients whenever possible. The wines come from small vineyards, that produce with respect for the land and often organic. We welcome your guests for breakfast, lunch and dinner, and there are many more options regarding events. We have catered for small groups of 10 and for large groups of 800 guests, for seated dinners with multiple courses and parties with finger food. In Stanislavski we can reserve a table and for receptions and lectures, you can make use of the roundabout. The roundabout is a round and centrally located space which is excellent for private occasions and receptions.

We can create a standing dinner where we serve a variety of small dishes. This form of dining is particularly suitable for network receptions or occasions where minimum seating is required or desired. A choice can be made from the selection of dishes written below. Naturally we are able to put together a tailor made walking dinner menu. We would then make an appointment for you with our Chefs to discuss your wishes.

The portions for a walking dinner weigh around 80 grams each and cost €6.50 for starters and entrees, €8.50 for the main course and €5.00 for desserts. Please note an average 3-course meal weighs around 450 grams per person. We recommend 6 courses as a rough guideline. The dishes are served on side plates and are easy to eat standing up. The minimum quantity for dishes for the stand-up dinner is 20 dishes per item. The price of a walking dinner menu with 6 courses is approximately €37.50 pp.

Below you can see examples of walking dinner menu items:

MORE ABOUT CITY THEATRE OF AMSTERDAM

The Stadsschouwburg Amsterdam is the Dutch home of theatre. It is the cultural hangout in the heart of the city, on the Leidseplein. Here the large national and international theatrical companies feel at home, and where the audience loves to come for a quality evening out. Everybody is welcome here, from theatre buff to 'first timer'! We'd like to invite you to enhance your programme by adding a theatre visit. We are happy to suggest commercial packages, and also offer various combination tickets with food and drinks.

The Stadsschouwburg presents all the major Dutch theatre companies and young producers who are ready for the big stage. From abroad we bring in the grand masters and 'enfants terribles' to Amsterdam, because the world's top theatre performances belong here in this bustling cultural metropolis.

It is theatre which makes a difference, which looks at the world around us and which dares to question what is on our minds. The programme is topical and diverse, featuring top theatre companies from home and abroad. We perform drama, dance, music theatre and youth theatre. High-profile (international) premières are staged here. The Stadsschouwburg also presents leading festivals, such as Brandhaarden/Brandstichter, Julidans Netherlands Theatre Festival and the Holland Festival. It offers a stage to the young programmers of the SSBA Salon, the 'cultural particles accelerator' of our theatre, and to the engaging Urban Myth production house.

The largest theatre company of the Netherlands, Toneelgroep Amsterdam, is based here. Tradition and innovation are the spearheads and go hand-in-hand at Toneelgroep Amsterdam in the heart of Amsterdam. In this company tradition and innovation go hand in hand. They are the pillars of organisation that is constantly in motion and presents itself explicitly at the heart of Amsterdam.
