We will take the existing facilities on-site into account and determine how they can be utilized within your project.

Clear agreements and communication

Naturally, we establish clear agreements with you regarding setup, the event and dismantling times. Your account manager and/or project manager remain involved throughout the process, keeping all relevant parties informed of the progress.

Handling sensitive information

The computers we use are delivered with a clean image, ensuring that they do not contain any undisclosed sensitive information. Immediately after the event, all content is removed from our computers.
